

Dry January? We've Got You!

Best Day Brewing N/A Beer

Best Day produces a lineup of classic beer styles (think IPA, Kölsch, and Mexican-style lager), brewed to full strength then carefully de-alcoholized so the flavor stays true. In blind tastings, seasoned beer pros can barely tell they're N/A... pretty much the gold standard of non-alcoholic products.

Josef Leitz "Einz Zwei Zero" Wines

Josef Leitz brings the same precision and pedigree of their traditional wines to the N/A world with the Einz Zwei Zero line (also in cans). From Pinot Noir and Riesling to a crisp, Sparkling Rosé, these wines deliver bright fruit and balance that stand out well beyond the N/A category.

Mount Fishtail "Zero" Sauvignon Blanc

"Zero" is a standout N/A option for fans of classic New Zealand Sauvignon Blancs. Expect zippy citrus, bright acidity, and that unmistakable fresh, grassy snap...proof that going alcohol-free doesn't mean giving up flavor.

Domaine de Montrose Rosé Mont Rosé Zero

Rosé Zero is a slam dunk for rosé lovers...fresh, balanced, and genuinely satisfying, not a consolation prize. We brought a bottle to a dinner and only realized later it was N/A, which tells you everything you need to know about how this drinks.

Free Spirits Espresso Old Fashioned

Free Spirits takes the classic Old Fashioned and gives it a bold, N/A twist...rich espresso and sweet, oaky notes make it feel like a craft cocktail in a can. It's smooth, complex and holds up nicely over ice when you want something grown-up without the alcohol.

"Mockarita" Nitro Mocktail

The "Mockarita" captures the essence of a classic marg in a nitro-charged, N/A can... zesty lime and orange zest and a dry finish that feels more cocktail than soda. Less sugar, no booze, and a smooth mouthfeel make it a solid pick for anyone craving the vibe without the tequila.
